Council Holds to Previous Decision As Sidewalk Issue Is Raised Again

by Mary Lou Williamson

Residents Ruth Kastner and Charles Hagelgans, 3 Crescent Road, and Greenbelt Homes Inc. petitioned the city council Monday, Sept. 9 to reconsider the city's decision not to build any sidewalk at the south end of the GHI neighborhood where Ridge and Crescent Roads meet. While no one on council was willing to move for reconsideration, council member Thomas X. White tried at least four motions, twisting this way and that, to find a means for all parties to get together to seek an acceptable compromise. The other four members left White dangling in the wind, offering no seconds to his motions. White is the only member of council who lives in the GHI community.

"In asking for a hearing, my goal is not to try to force the original plan on those residents who are clearly opposed to it, but to consider alternatives that might be acceptable," Kastner said. With the increase in traffic, she said, those who walk need some help. "Let's do something to give Greenbelt back to the pedestrian."

"I feel that matters of public safety deserve special attention," said Charles Hagelgans, Kastner's husband. "I don't want to take four feet away from anybody's front yard. Maybe we can move the road. Maybe the sidewalks don't have to be four feet wide," he said. With more cars parked on the streets than in 1940, "there is no place to walk except in the traffic lanes," he said. He challenged council to show the voters that "you can find solutions to tough problems."

In concurring with Kastner, Eunice Coxon recalled when her car broke down some years ago and she had to walk home late at night on Ridge Road. "I was scared to death," she said.

The sidewalk "deserves a second look," agreed Keith Chernikoff.

"You treat us like poor relations," challenged Steve Curtis.

He was disturbed by the council's decision. At the original public hearing, he reminded council, those who appeared "came out for the plan."

Curtis did acknowledge that the yards of some homeowners would be impacted, but suggested those few problems could be resolved. He suggested council could turn to GHI to draw up a compromise among its members "I think there should be a sidewalk," he said.

Those Opposed

But those on the other side of the question were adamant. With little pedestrian traffic, a usable if deteriorating inner walkway system, and three yards that would be severely impacted, "We don't need any more sidewalks at that end of town," Tony Durantine told council. A long-time Greenbelter, he said, "I've pushed my grandson from one end of town to the other . . . (it is the inner walkways which) need to be rehabilitated." Durantine's yard in the 7 Court of Crescent is one that would be impacted by the city's sidewalk proposal.

Forum Reveals Candidates' Views

by Leta Mach

The future of Greenbelt was at issue at the first candidates' night of the upcoming city council election. Before a packed council chamber and a cable TV audience on September 10, eight candidates attempted to persuade the voters that their views offered the best for the future of Greenbelt.

Each candidate was given time in an opening statement to respond to three questions presented by the sponsors of the forum, Citizens for Greenbelt. The many-faceted questions elicited long answers which caused most candidates to run overtime. Nevertheless, the statements gave the audience a chance to learn each candidate's views on development and the quality of life in Greenbelt before the forum was opened to questions from the floor.

The first question asked was what the candidate would do as a councilperson "to ensure that development does not further reduce the quality of life in this community". Incumbents Gil Weidenfeld and Toni Bram and challengers Steve Curtis and Joe Isaacs noted the need for crime prevention and an adequate police force and police facility. Isaacs, Weidenfeld and incumbents Ed Putens and Richard Pilski also noted the need for improved transportation and traffic studies. Green space acquisition was emphasized by Weidenfeld, Bram and Putens.

Planning and communication were cited by several candidates. Curtis felt a master plan for the city along with a separate long-range planning board, was needed. Isaacs found the current revision of the Greenbelt/College Park Master Plan a "window of opportunity." This would be a guide for developers.

Incumbent Thomas White stated that he would continue, as he had for the past 26 years, being a counterforce to developers. He would give them "L" - legislation, leverage (use the supermajority and studies), lag (delay development until it is dropped or becomes of higher quality), lots of people and allies (the double "L" in the word) for Greenbelt's influential friends.

Pilski suggested it was time for a moratorium so Greenbelt could catch up on road problems and the like.

Challenger Valerie Siegel preferred input from all citizens for their priorities. She called for the maximum return on expenditures to enhance the quality of life.

Bond Issue

The second question pertained to the $6 million bond issue which divided proceeds equally into three areas - 1) swimming pool, 2) parkland acquisition and development and 3) public facility improvements. Candidates were asked whether they would honor that division and what their priorities were in each category. Candidates favored the division.

Siegel found a new police station most important. Weidenfeld, Curtis, White, Bram, Putens, Pilski and Isaacs also supported the police facility. Curtis suggested costs could be reduced by using land near the GHI rental garages on Parkway Road.

White put North End Center improvements as his second choice. Weidenfeld felt the for-

Parcels 1, 2 Zoning Hearing Is Delayed for Four Months

by Elaine Skolnik

The hearing on four rezoning applications for Parcels 1 and 2, scheduled before the Prince Georges County Hearing Examiner on September 10, was postponed at the request of the applicants and rescheduled for January 24, 1986.

According to Zoning Hearing Examiner Barry Cramp, "The applicants' attorney (Russell W. Shipley) has requested additional time to properly present his case." Cramp and Prince Georges County Planning Board agreed to the postponement. The board had postponed its September 12 hearing on applications, pending the hearing examiner's decision.

The applications involve 112 acres of Parcels 1 and 2, land between the Baltimore-Washington Parkway and Greenbelt Homes, Inc. property. About 102 acres (Parcel 1) are located north of Northway extended and 10 acres (Parcel 2) are between Hamilton Place and Gardenway.

Applicants Charles Bresler and Theodore Lerner and Associates have requested a zoning change for the entire acreage from R-R (rural residential-single family, 2 units per acre) to R-T townhouse zoning (up to 12 units per acre). The city council's preference for the entire acreage is single-family homes in the R-80 zoning category (3.4 units per acre). The technical staff of the Maryland-National Park and Planning Commission has recommended denial of the townhouse zoning.

City Manager James K. Giese, in a written report to city council, said after the postponement that Shipley "expressed interest in discussing with the city the status of Parcels 1, 2 and 15" (the 29-plus acre tract that runs along the Beltway west of Charles-towne Village and the Charles-towne North highrise).

In a letter to Cramp dated September 15, Shipley said, "While I realize that these cases (Parcels 1 and 2) were filed over twenty years ago, there has been substantial physical changes in the ownership of the parcels." He was referring to the 62 acres that the school board acquired from the applicants for a three-school complex in 1966 and an additional 10 acres purchased in 1969. The land was not used for schools and the school board transferred the acreage to the county. However, since that transfer in the late 1970's, successive county executives have not officially turned the matter over to the county council for a formal declaration that the property is surplus.

The question of whether or not there is a "reverter clause" dealing with the right of the original property owners to reclaim the land still is unresolved. Shipley said in his recent letter that the "applicants assert and claim a first option to repurchase these (former school) properties as a result of their negotiations by which they were initially conveyed to the School Board in 1966."

The Greenbelt city council has also recently sought clarification about a reverter clause since the school board property is involved in a six-point package offered to the city by the county executive in connection with tax-exempt financing of the proposed Sunrise Village high-rise apartments in East Greenbelt.

In addition to resolving the question of a "reverter clause," Shipley quoted in his letter that there were problems of access to Parcel 1 that need answers. He noted that "agreements between the property owners and the Board of Education require the Board of Education to provide access through its property to the remainder of the applicants' property (on Parcel 1). Obviously, such access is not being provided leaving virtually the only access to the subject (property) through Plateau Place via Ridge Road and possibly Laurel Hill Road via Ridge Road."

Providing public water and sewer service to the parcels were also on Shipley's mind. A major problem, the lack of sewer facilities on the land, including the 72-acre school-site property, is the subject of a report recently released by the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission. That agency's estimates of costs to provide sewer service ranged from $2¼ million to $5 million.

Shipley termed the matter of water and sewer service "a very important issue." And speaking of these as well as of roads and the issue of the reverter clause, he concluded that "... the answers to these questions might obviously change the complexion of these cases."

"Tantrum" Label Protested To the Editor:

Antoinette Bram made a comment at the September 9 City Council meeting to which we must take exception. We were informed by Councilmember Bram that we were having a "temper tantrum" because a vote by Council at an earlier meeting had not gone our way.

We were asking Council to take a second look at an issue we were sincerely concerned about and that we felt deserved further consideration. We regret that Ms. Bram did not agree with that Ms. Bram did not agree with us. Nevertheless, we would hope that regardless of Councilmembers' opinions of the merits of a citizen's request, they would welcome participation and involvement by those who have taken the time to share their concerns, rather than to discourage such participation by dismissing a request such as ours as a "temper tantrum".

Keep the Forest — Please!

To the Editor:

We support, in the strongest terms, denial of townhouse zoning for Parcels 1 and 2 as described in the September 5 News Review. We believe this land should not even be R-80, but should remain in forest permanently.

This forest is almost all that remains of the green belt. Many of its animals can live nowhere else in the city as Betsy Likowski's article made clear: "... many species that were once here have already disappeared because of development." Foxes, pileated woodpeckers, owls, deer — every species not compatible with lawns — will be killed out even with single-family homes development. The Lake Park is no substitute; it is much poorer habitat.

We want to live in Greenbelt, not concretebelt or housebelt. Can the city and/or GHI do something about purchasing the land or getting a protective easement? There are probably additional citizens willing to donate and canvass to protect these woods. We will also be asking council candidates for their positions on keeping Greenbelt at least semi-green.

Tina Rhea (M.S., Zoology)

Due to an error several lines were left out of last week's story on the use of parcels 1, 2 and surplus school board land. This omission diluted a main point of the story that this land is now being used for informal recreation use. The omitted sentences read: "When talking to Greenbelters, one discovers they use these woods for different kinds of recreation: walking, walking the dog, jogging, playing, bird watching. One resident walks these woods in search of old mines and remains of old farm houses."

All Are Invited to Help Cleanup Lake on Sept. 21

On Saturday, September 21, the Greenbelt Public Works Department invites all Greenbelters to participate in a cleanup of Greenbelt Lake. The cleanup, facilitated by a temporary lowering of the lake's water level by six to eight feet, will commence at the bandstand at 9 a.m. The project will end at noon.

The volunteer project will be aided by city trucks, which will follow the lake path to pick up bagged trash at all locations. Trashbags will be supplied by the Public Works Department.

Greenbelt residents, singly or in groups, are invited to participate. Rubber boots, work clothes, and gloves are recommended. The cleanup will be conducted rain or shine.

Repairs of the dam will be undertaken later by the city.

mer North End School should be evaluated to decide what to do with the building. Curtis felt it would be a good location for a museum. Siegel also spoke for the museum. Pilski's second choice was a women's facility at the Youth Center and his third choice was work on the former North End School. He also made note of the museum.

Bram's number one priority was acquisition of green space. Putens, White, Pilski, Isaacs, Siegel, Weidenfeld and Curtis also spoke up for parkland acquisition. Curtis suggested developing two more lakes on certain parcels while Pilski felt he might want to keep the land in its natural state.

Bram, Weidenfeld, Curtis, White, and Isaacs spoke about a swimming pool. White called for early distribution of information so that citizens could help make choices among projects. Isaacs noted the open-endedness of the bond issue and stated that the six million dollar issue would not buy everything. While he had listed nice projects, he concluded, "I don't want to make the decision for you, I want to make the decision with you."

Election Procedures

The third question related to Council elections - whether the candidate favored the election of some or all council members by district, the use of county voting lists rather than the separate city voting rolls and on what the compensation for council should be based. With time running short, some candidates did not finish this question.

Only Curtis spoke in favor of district representation. Pilski noted that he favored a separate election for mayor. Siegel felt the question should be decided by the voters. If the state asked Greenbelt to change "we will of course do so," concluded Bram. Weidenfeld's and Isaac's objection to election by districts was that it would tend to promote provincialism. White expressed no opinion. Putens was not convinced districts are the best way to go.

Most candidates favored using the separate city voting rolls. Putens felt Greenbelt rolls were more accurate. These lists were more up-to-date than the county's. And the lists would pose an "unnecessary burden" on candidates, since more campaign literature would be needed, explained Weidenfeld. Curtis spoke in favor of county lists as furthering democracy. "I don't mind the extra expense," he said. Isaacs was willing to look at the question and survey it.

White favored the use of Greenbelt rolls because he favored home rule. Some people might be disenfranchised because they might not be on county rolls," he added. Siegel said, "Greenbelt should be guided by the people who care enough to register here."

Council Salaries

Because of inflation, Weidenfeld found that Greenbelt's salaries were reasonable and justified. Siegel felt the salaries should start where they were and stay in line with the cost of living. Salaries should cover expenses, said Curtis, and added that volunteerism should be encouraged.

"Councils live with their own decisions," Bram said. "There is no logical basis for salaries." Putens felt. But, he cautioned, the salary should help defer costs such as the loss of vacation time.

Pilski found the recent $1000 increase "outrageous." White concluded that he supported a very low salary.

Audience Questions

The candidates also responded to questions from the audience.

● Do you favor distribution of voter registration forms (roving registrars) like the county does?

White - The city of Greenbelt doesn't have to apologize for its voter rolls. There are lots of opportunities to register - phone and mail registration, registrars in area organizations, etc.

Pilski - There is no problem with all the methods the city has for registration. The only time the rolls are closed is 30 days before an election.

Isaacs - There is a need for a roving registrar. Not all groups, i.e., Boxwood, have their own registrar. Bram - Yes.

Curtis - Favor maximum participation; favor use of the county rolls.

Putens - Of course.

Weidenfeld - City does have mail-in registration, community centers, special weekend registration. We could try roving registrars so as to leave no stone unturned.

Siegel - Agree with the concept but concerned about the strain on the budget. If use volunteers, absolutely.

● Do you support various measures which would make the sale of tobacco to children more difficult in Greenbelt, i.e., raise buying age to 18, have supervised cigarette machines, store tobacco behind counters, ban the sale of candy in tobacco shops?

Curtis - Fully support because of the health benefits.

Isaacs - Support as a citizen, but as a candidate would want to present to the citizens for their wishes.

White - Support Senator Green's statewide legislation. Don't support Greenbelt-only legislation because it would be difficult to enforce and other businesses outside city boundaries would be at an advantage.

Pilski - Good idea, but hard to enforce.

Siegel - Support the premise but there may be a constitutional and enforcement problem.

Putens - No philosophical problem with the idea, but there may be an enforcement problem. Should have a public hearing.

Bram - Agree with the principle especially the education of businesses. Think control would be through posting signs.

Weidenfeld - Philosophically agree, but as a practical matter it would not be that difficult to find cigarettes. It may not accomplish anything. At a minimum it should be on a county scale.

● Is Greenbelt overdeveloped?

Bram - certainly. White - I don't think so. First envisioned to be a town of residents and work places. During the 1950s and 1960s, there was overdevelopment of apartments. Most recent type of development has added to the tax base, but not taxed the services.

Curtis - Yes. In the original plan densities were much lower.

Pilski - Look at Greenway - would never have been in the city limits without annexation. Would have had their problems and no advantages of tax base.

Siegel - Yes, it's disproportionately developed.

Isaacs - Certainly, look at Greenway, view of the Hilton from Lastner Lane.

Putens - Can we handle public works, etc - no. There are problems, have to stop and try to control.

Weidenfeld - Clearly, in what most of us envisioned Greenbelt should be when we moved here, it is over-developed.

White - Have done an effective job of keeping down densities; for example the Capital Office Park was originally zoned R-30, which would have been massive residential development.

● How can we grow and handle development and growing pains in the future?

Curtis - Have a comprehensive plan ahead of time; assure walkways and green space.

Pilski - Delicately; fortunately Greenbelt has influential friends who can help with road program.

White - Protect our flanks, - take an inventory of remaining land, watch the sectional map amendment. Encourage zoning to single family. Transportation is key.

Putens - Very carefully; it's like handling a porcupine. Use the influences we do have and make covenants and restrictions.

Bram - It is painful. City should be informed of all development in Greenbelt in advance so that it doesn't become another Rockville Pike.

Weidenfeld - The zoning map amendment is the key to dealing with this. Work with developers and put the pressure on county to provide public facilities.

Isaacs - Demonstrate foresight; there is an opportunity in the sectional map amendment. Stand firm with developers; let them know it's for their good also.

Siegel - There is not much to add.

● What is the city's objective and role in the Roosevelt Mall?

White - Primary objective is the immediate repair of the sidewalk. Role is to support work with the current owner to ensure the economic vitality of the Center.

Putens - Charrette has not come to a conclusion. Need a comprehensive plan before doing anything.

Isaacs - The physical environment of the Center needs refurbishing and preservation. Other needs are for public safety and the economic livelihood of merchants.

Siegel - Have a role because Center is part city and part private. City's role is as a facilitator and leader.

Bram - Have heard about these sidewalks over and over again. The first stage was the charrette, now we need to do the second stage - select a proper plan and then the third stage - complete the plan.

Weidenfeld - The center is a joint effort between the city and the owner. The charrette provided resources. Now, need a goal and a theme.

Curtis - Charrette was a good first attempt. Now need more economic input; favor getting volunteers like the Jaycees involved.

Pilski - Need strong leadership within the Center. First concern is Community Savings and Loan. Start with sidewalks; need full commitment, what should we do about the Utopia Theater?

● Could we do a little better cleaning job right now in the Center?

Putens - Don't see why we can't be doing it right now.

Bram - I complained not too long ago myself. The next budget needs a bigger salary for summer help.

White - There is a problem of leadership on Council.

Pilski - Want to compliment public works on the job they do. The problem this year was that there were not as many summer workers as before.

Isaacs - This is a problem throughout the city. I'd make it a budgetary priority.

Siegel - The consequences are insidious when public works is understaffed. The staff do a terrific job but more people are needed.

Curtis - We still like to think of ourselves as a small town, but we're not and we need a bigger staff.

Weidenfeld - There is no end of the number of people we could hire to do all the public works jobs. Not enough person power to address all problems. We need to prioritize.

● What did Mr. White mean by a lack of leadership?

White - It was based on taking care of business. There are unmet needs - sidewalks, animal control, corrective measures at the Lake Park. The process of government in Greenbelt has deteriorated; meetings last so long.

Weidenfeld - Some meetings lasted to 12 or one in the morning. It was because Council only meets once a month in the summer and there were long agendas with some controversial items. It was not the result of deteriorated procedures; things have run the same for 14 years.

Pilski - We are duplicating work by channeling items to a work session then to a regular meeting. Twice as much work and haven't come to grip with issues.

Bram - We talk too much and this has increased since the camera has been on us.

White - Not the camera; it's the agenda and the work sessions.

Weidenfeld - Work sessions are the standard way all city councils operate. It's an effective way otherwise regular meetings would be too long. Work sessions are open.

Pilski - The camera enables people to see what goes on.

● What about a livable wage for a full-time animal warden or do we still offer low wages and part-time so that we have persistent vacancies?

Pilski - Don't see any problem; I think we could afford it.

White - Animal control problem is a good example of not taking care of business. It is more lax than it ought to be.

Bram - Maybe we need a full-time animal warden.

Curtis - The only way to get professional service is to pay professional salaries.

Isaacs - Part-time wardens have made a difference; not opposed to full-time.

Putens - Council should look at this in the budget process. Perhaps increase hours and salary.

Siegel - Between now and the budget process would like to see list of number and kinds of calls received; what is the problem we're going to address, then address it.

Weidenfeld - Full or part-time should be determined by needs. Are any calls unanswered - If they are, then add more hours.

● What should be done with parcels 1 and 2?

Pilski - I stand by my 1961 vote to stay with R-55 (single family). Land development in the area (Farmgate, etc.) is an incentive for the same type of development.

White - Agree about the character of the land and development. Favor single-family and maintaining the integrity of the flood plain. Hope the city obtains the surplus 72 acres, but the question of a reverter clause is a complicating factor.

Curtis - Acquire the 72 acres for parkland, develop in single-family and provide a lake in the flood plain.

Weidenfeld - City has always opposed rezoning. Hope city acquires part and hope for single-family development.

Bram - Have parkland on the 72 acres and R-80 cluster single-family, which provides more green space. R-55 is too dense.

Siegel - Agree with Curtis. Also need a moratorium until we have the appropriate roads.

Pilski - Always said single-family. Parcels 1 and 2 are strategic locations for acquisition. We were told we had the 72 acres and we want them.

Isaacs - Single-family if it's developed, but prefer green space.

Putens - Single family and strategic locations of parcels 1 & 2 for park acquisition. We were told we had 72 acres and we want it transferred in our name.

Paula Clinedinst . . . Miss Greenbelt 1985

by Libby Nau

"Popularity," according to 15-year-old Paula Christine Clinedinst, "isn't nearly as important as having good friends." Now the recently crowned Miss Greenbelt 1985 has both.

If not for the two green and gold trophies and a sparkling tiara displayed atop the Clinedinsts' fireplace mantel, it might be difficult to guess there's a pageant princess in the house.

At first glance, the Eleanor Roosevelt sophomore appears to be an average happy-go-lucky teenager. Clad comfortably in jeans and a white sweatshirt, she says she prefers the "lived-in look." Her easy smile is rimmed by a thin silver retainer. Her blue eyes are always changing color and her light brown shoulder-length hair curls gently at the ends.

A simple gold heart dangles from her necklace, a gift from her uncle which she occasionally twists around her finger when she's thinking of something to say. Favorite hobbies include roller skating, spending time with friends and talking. "I love to talk," she cautions with a smile.

Although she may seem to be your usual enthusiastic, carefree teenager, Clinedinst is far from average.

In addition to being named Miss Greenbelt 1985, she was also voted Miss Congeniality by the other contestants. For her, this award has special significance because it meant she was well-liked by the other contestants who nominated her.

In the next year, Clinedinst will have to balance the responsibilities of her title, a job three nights a week at the Variety Store and maintaining a 3.6 G.P.A.

"I'm going to have a heck of a time," she says with a hint of exasperation. "But, I'll deal with it when things start to pile up," she adds, saying the job would be the first to go if things got too demanding.

"Sometimes Paula's just amazing to me," says Lynn Clinedinst of her daughter. "She makes me wonder 'Where did this kid come from?' and 'Is she really mine?'" Mrs. Clinedinst, a receptionist at Corman Construction, Inc., says her daughter is level-headed and will be able to meet the challenge before her.

Clinedinst entered the pageant at the urging of a friend who was also a contestant. "Out of the 11 contestants, eight of us knew each other," she explains. "The pageant didn't really feel like a competition because all of us were having such a good time."

"Paula was very concerned that some friendships might be lost during the competition," says Lynn Clinedinst. "I think she was more concerned with how the outcome would affect her friends than if she would get some personal gain."

Contest Qualifications

Four-time pageant director Jean Cook said the 11 contestants were judged in the following categories: beauty, poise, personality, public speaking, modeling and a private interview session with the judges.

She described Clinedinst as "extremely enthusiastic and well-rounded" and possessing a bubbling personality. "She's a very neat person," said Cook.

"At the beginning of the competition, I was afraid I was going to have a hard time speaking on stage, but by the end I was having such a good time it was like . . . take the mike away!" laughs Clinedinst.

She says she loves school and thinks it's "a lot of fun," but is equally candid about dreading homework. She says she's worked hard ever since first grade to do well in school.

Her ultimate career goal is to become a T.V. newscaster and do freelance writing. After graduation she hopes to attend North Carolina University.

Currently she is on her school's newspaper staff, the pep club, SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving) and is contemplating whether or not she will try out for the upcoming school theater production, "Grease."

In middle school, Clinedinst was a cheerleader and played sports, including soccer and basketball.

When asked to describe herself, she said she often feels like a "Dear Abby" for her friends. "I try to be as friendly as possible . . . I'd like to think I'm easy to talk to," she says.

Greenbelt Native

Clinedinst was born and raised in Greenbelt and her family has strong roots in the city. She is the fourth generation of one of Greenbelt's nine original pioneer families. Her great-grandmother is 88-year-old Mae Zoellner of Greenridge. Her grandparents are June and Paul Rousseau of Northway.

Although she is proud of her Miss Greenbelt title, she doesn't want the experience to push her into adulthood too soon. "I know it's a lot of responsibility but I still want to have fun," says the girl who also confesses. "I just can't be myself in a neat, clean room!"

"I know people are watching me, hoping I'll do a good job," she says quietly, her face turning serious, the easy smile fading. She crosses her arms, thinking in silence. Slowly the smile begins to return as she says, "I hope when it comes time for me to give up my crown Greenbelt will be satisfied."

TOM WHITE

INDEPENDENT, EXPERIENCED LEADERSHIP:

In this space the past two weeks I set forth recommended elements for controlling development and addressing transportation concerns in Greenbelt. While those issues are important and require a great deal of time and effort, we should not lose sight of the essential city services and programs that contribute to the Greenbelt quality of life.

The following are items that need council attention:

- Improvements to the sidewalks and public areas of the Roosevelt Center.
- Improved maintenance at the Buddy Attick Lake Park and adoption of a Lake Park Master Plan.
- More attention to animal control enforcement.
- Continued support for police patrols, as well as city and neighborhood crime prevention programs.
- Preservation of parkland and buffer strips to maintain natural vegetation and control soil erosion.

During my twelve years on council I have established a record for supporting these essential items within our city budget.

I am requesting your support on September 30 so that I can continue to promote these and other programs to improve the quality of life in Greenbelt.

Council Reconsiders Sidewalks

made a decision, said Linda White, 5 Crescent, they should "stand behind their decision. . . . Why all of a sudden are you requesting to take away our land create legal problems and extra burdens and take away parking spaces, saying the sidewalk is a cure-all?"

Gayle Drake, Lakeside, asked whether council could provide maps of the inner walkways so more people could use them.

"I applaud you for your patience," Frank Wood, 8 Ridge, told council. "I am not opposed to sidewalks where needed," he explained. "I do not think they are needed (in my area)."

GHI Action Sought

Council member Toni Bram asked Wood, "Is it possible for people in your area to get together and request GHI to repair the inner walkways and make them serviceable instead of coming to the city for what apparently is a GHI problem? This council has made its decision on the sidewalk."

"In order to reconsider we need a motion," said council member Richard Pilski. Otherwise "the question would be moot."

Letters "urging reconsideration"—had been received from Leta Mach and Evelyn Wagner, reported city clerk Gudrun Mills. Also one phone call had come from Esther Webb indicating her "continued opposition."

In response to a question by White, city manager James K. Giese indicated time would not be a problem, as bids on the reconstruction of the roadway are not expected before spring.

White looked for a compromise by stating that all parties could participate in rehearing the issue first and then, if merited, council could consider whether to change its decision. But no matter how he altered the proposal, he found no takers on council. "I suggest council honor the two requests for rehearing." No second.

Council member Ed Putens suggested GHI "sit down and talk to their members" and see if they can come up with "any new plan. Otherwise we're beating a dead horse."

"Would council agree to a motion to direct the staff to work with GHI to address the concerns . . .?" asked White. No second.

In response to Putens, Ray McCawley questioned whether "GHI should waste its time talking about a sidewalk if you don't want to build it."

"Council is not locked out of it," Putens said. Windsor Green residents wanted a traffic light at the Mandan Road entrance. The State "kept telling us 'No. You can't have it.'" Windsor Green residents prevailed.

Pilski, pointing out that three failed motions should have ended discussion of the matter, also left the door open a crack. If GHI comes back to the city with a proposal, "I'm sure we would hear them."

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld spoke of the reasons why council had rejected the sidewalk. "Some locations would be severely impacted. There was a petition (with 20 signatures) against the sidewalk and there has been no effort by GHI to work out some options . . . Any new steps must come at the initiative of citizens or GHI," he said.

GHI had asked for the city manager and the GHI manager to work out the problem, said McCawley. The goal was to take care of "pedestrian safety without adversely affecting members' yards." GHI thought it could be done.

"I thought we were making a policy decision that was nothing unusual," said Bram. "We believe in the inner walkway and we don't believe in 'unnecessary . . . sidewalks, concrete strips. . . . I'm having a difficult time with people not accepting the decision, who think it's a good time to throw a tantrum, get council stirred up because they're running for reelection and want our votes." Anyone who would vote for members of council based on one issue, she challenged, would do an injustice to the city.

Mail Delivery Dangerous

by Nicole Spiegelthal

Mail carriers will not and cannot subject themselves to attacks by dogs, and should a dog, or any other pet, interfere with mail delivery, service will be suspended until the problem is remedied. Such was the gist of a memo released by Washington, D.C. Postmaster John R. Cochran.

Mail carriers are shown dog training films which teach identification and handling of potentially dangerous dogs and other pets. In addition, orange cards stamped with "Dog Alert" on them are placed in carriers' packets to inform substitute carriers of potential dangers.

Unfortunately, these measures are sometimes insufficient. In 1983, William Harris, a former mail carrier, was knocked down and mauled by a half timber wolf, half German Shepherd in the 8 Court of Plateau Place. Harris was unable to return to work for a year, at which time he began working in the vehicle maintenance department.

Greenbelt Postmaster Franklin D. Ford feels that old Greenbelt is the most dangerous part of Greenbelt; in the last four years, the only dog attacks have occurred in the GHI properties. Postmaster Ford warns that, should an attack occur, the pet owner can be liable not only to the mail carrier, but also to the Post Office which may seek reimbursement for medical costs, employee leave and any other damages.

To avoid conflicts, D.C. Postmaster Cochran advises owners to keep pets away from the mailbox and any areas carriers may use for access to the property.

Soccer Update

Fall Soccer is now in full swing in spite of some hot, nasty weather. All teams are now into full practice schedules, and many of our teams will be playing at Windsor Green Field on Mandan Road. The 5 and 6 year olds play at 9, the 15 year olds play each other at 10, and the 8 year olds play each other at 11:30. Our county team plays at Braden Field on Sunday at 2:30. Come and cheer on our Greenbelt Soccer Players. They love an audience!

The 5 and 6 year olds beat Beltsville 1-0 on a goal by Stephanie King. Ken Barron, Ryan Putens and T. J. Lubey played exceptionally well. Greenbelt 2 (8 year olds) beat New Carrollton 6-0! Goals were scored by Jason Harbin, Daniel Gomez, Kevin Lynch and Mike Ring. The 11 year old county team tied Beltsville 1-1 in a tight defensive game. Alex Collmer scored the Greenbelt goal, and John Fiege made some great saves as the goalie.

Last week GB 2 (15 year old) beat NC 6-0. Doug Gohr and Stephen Ready, scored while Matt Webb and Dan Krieger shared goal.

Congratulations, Greenbelt! It's obvious that training has been paying off, and that you are playing as a team, rather than 11 individuals on the field. Teamwork and passing are essential to soccer.

"If the pet cannot be kept behind a secure fence, the owner should restrain it with a secure leash or tether or at least keep the pet inside during the usual hours mail carriers are making their rounds."

GHI Accepts Late September Payments

by Janet James

When Greenbelt citizens were suddenly struck with the temporary closing of Community Savings and Loan just before the first of September, Greenbelt Homes, Inc. realized that many of its members would be unable to pay on time monthly charges due September 1. Instead of waiting for members to ask what to do, as a landlord might have done, the cooperative sent out a door-to-door letter saying that GHI understands their predicament and will not make a late-payment charge if each member affected will call the Finance Office at GHI and explain.

In the experience of long-time employees, GHI has never done anything which drew such a favorable response from the members; both members who were affected—and there were quite a few—and members who were not, expressed appreciation of the thoughtfulness of the cooperative towards its members.

Greenbelt Homes believes that members will have had time by October 1 to make other financial arrangements and will expect October payments to be made in a timely fashion. However, if any members have trouble catching up the late September payment in one month, they should call Don McGinn, 474-6601, to arrange for a slower payment schedule.

CONSIDERING A CHANGE IN RESIDENCE?

There are three key elements to consider:

- A) Your needs: things you positively have to have.
- B) Your wants: things you'd like to have, but don't necessarily need.
- C) Your qualifications:
 - 1) Your initial investment (cash to move in)
 - 2) Your total income (gross yearly income)
 - 3) Your debt service (total indebtedness)

I would like the opportunity to discuss with you how we can combine these three factors to assist you and your family in achieving your housing goals both within Greenbelt and the metropolitan area - of course with no obligation.

Neil Simon Comedy Begins Run at Utopia on Sept. 27

The footlights go up next Friday night at the Utopia Theater as the Greenbelt Players open their 1985-86 season with the Neil Simon comedy "I Ought to Be in Pictures."

Herb, played on alternate weekends by Michael Reed and Bill Witt, is a less-than-successful Hollywood scriptwriter. The sudden arrival of his daughter—left in Brooklyn 16 years earlier—proves complicating to his psyche as well as his love life.

Daughter Libby is played in all six performances by Kelly Holl, a versatile young actress who has acted and held many responsible positions in past Greenbelt Players productions.

Herb's girl friend is played, alternately, by Stefanie Boss and Donalee Hill. The N.Y. Post has called this play "sweet, dandy and touching" as it explores relationships among the three very different characters.

An opening night reception will be held after the play. Directors Susan Hedges and H. G. Cote will be on hand with cast members in the lobby where a light buffet and beverages will be served. The play runs from September 27 through October 12.

To Your Smile

Ray Vidal, D.D.S.

What special care do dentures need?

If you are one of the many millions of Americans who have unfortunately lost several or all of your natural teeth and now have a full or partial denture, your thoughts are probably not of prevention, but rather of maintenance of your denture. While it is important to maintain the actual denture, you still cannot overlook preventive measures that you can take to minimize further problems.

All dentures do require good daily cleaning to prevent unsightly staining or objectional odor. Today's highly advanced denture materials assure many years of trouble-free service, but reasonable care must be taken not to drop the denture or allow it to dry out when not in the mouth.

More important is the understanding that, although dentures do not change, the mouth does. Shrinkage of bone and gum tissue occurs slowly but constantly, and is the main reason for ill-fitting dentures. Periodic examination by your family dentist is necessary to determine when re-fitting, or even replacement, is needed.

"Wheels for Life" Raises Funds To Battle Cancer

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital officials have announced that the Greenbelt Recreation Department Lions Club will co-sponsor the Hospital's "Wheels For Life" Bike Ride in Greenbelt on Saturday, October 12. This ride will raise funds to support the hospital's battle against childhood cancer and other illnesses being studied there. The ride will start and finish at the Greenbelt Youth Center following a two mile circuit course around the Greenbelt Lake Path. Bike riders, walkers and joggers are welcome to participate.

Sponsors donating a sum for each mile completed are enlisted by riders, etc. Prizes, such as St. Jude T-Shirts and tote bags, are awarded to participants who raise various amounts of donations. The real winners are the children of St. Jude Hospital because every mile the participants go, earns money bringing closer a cure for cancer.

Founded in 1962 by entertainer Danny Thomas, St. Jude Hospital has become the world's largest center for the study of childhood cancer. It is the only institution dedicated solely to the treatment and study of catastrophic childhood diseases. The Hospital is non-sectarian and interracial.

In addition to direct treatment of patients from 39 states and 21 foreign countries, St. Jude has provided the world's doctors with the best ways of treating their own young cancer patients. This life-saving knowledge is given freely and with no charge to any other hospital or private physician.

St. Jude Hospital's dramatic progress has been made possible primarily by voluntary contributions raised through events such as the "Wheels for Life" bike rides organized by concerned citizens all over America.

Applications for Service Academies Now Available

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) is currently accepting applications for Congressional appointments to the United States service academies.

Maryland students interested in being nominated to the Naval, Military or Merchant Marine Academies must apply to Senator Mathias before November 4, the application deadline for the class entering July, 1986.

Because his slots at the Air Force Academy are full, Mathias does not have a vacancy there for the 1986 entering class. A vacancy may become available later in the year so students are encouraged to check with Mathias' Baltimore office.

Candidates applying for a nomination must be U.S. citizens, Maryland residents, and have the equivalent of a high school education. They must be at least 17 years of age but not yet 22 by July of their entering year.

Nominations are strictly competitive and are based on the recommendations of Mathias' Academy Review Board which evaluates the applicants. College Entrance Examination Board

Greenbelt Runners Finish Labor Day Festival Run

by Larry Noel

More Greenbelt runners participated in the running races as part of the Labor Day Festival than in many years. Seventeen were in the featured 15 kilometer (9.3 mile) race which started at Braden Field and went out through the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center to a point .65 miles beyond Soil Conservation Road and return. Jim Dill, 28, representing the Converse Running Team, who lives in Springfield, Va., easily won over

(SAT) scores of 450 verbal and 600 math, or a composite total of 1050, are required to be eligible for an interview.

After the board considers the student's scholastic record and interviews each applicant, a decision is made. Ten nominations are then made for each vacancy with the final decision made by each service academy.

Students interested in obtaining further information and application materials should write to Ms. Linda Strine in Mathias' Baltimore office, 1616 Federal Office Building, 31 Hopkins Plaza, Baltimore, Maryland 21201; (301) 962-4850.

Council Postpones Review of 2 Subdivisions on Plans

by Mary Lou Williamson

The city council, at its September 9 meeting, agreed to delay consideration of preliminary subdivision plans for Greenbrook (Tidler) and the adjoining Smith-Ewing property. Richard Reed, attorney for Tidler and Smith-Ewing, asked for the delay, saying their hearing before the Prince Georges Planning Board has been postponed 10 days to October 17.

Council agreed to the delay, but suggested delaying still further, noting that the awkwardness of setting meetings for the new council, which will not be sworn in until October 7. The developers, Reed promised, want to resolve issues raised by the city's advisory boards "to everyone's satisfaction. . . . We would like to continue to cooperate with you."

Questions remaining involve the alignment of Ora Glen Drive; dedication of green space; a traffic study to include all new development, such as Sunrise, which would be completed about the same time as the Tidler and Smith-Ewing properties; and the sidewalk-bike path.

Police Items

Council also approved several items involving the police department, extending the probation served by a new police cadet and police officer candidate, and changing the length of time and experience required for promotion within the department. In addition, a single bid by A. Jacobs & Sons, Inc. of Baltimore was accepted for police uniforms after negotiation. Other expected bids did not materialize.

Robert S. Miller, chairman of the County's Board of License Commissioners, addressed council, characterizing the County's liquor board as tough on those who abuse the public trust. Licenses, he said, can be rejected if city governments or local citizens bring unsavory conditions to the board's attention. He admitted, however, that the circuit court sometimes overturns the board's decision.

Actions

In other actions, council:

—Gave first reading to a bill to waive the penalty for late payment of city property taxes for property owners whose funds are frozen or under restriction in Maryland savings and loans. Harvey Geller, of Northway, had petitioned council for relief for himself and others.

—Agreed to advance funds for the winter swim program for the Greenbelt Swim Team. Their funds are frozen at Community Savings and Loan.

—Provided transportation costs for the Greenbelt Junior Tennis Team to compete in Washington in the area championships.

—Provided funds for the charette slide show using moneys unspent from the charette week-end in May.

—Gave first reading to an ordinance to clarify language and delete references to gender in a portion of the city's personnel code.

The last meeting of the council's two year tenure ended with thanks to the staff, self-congratulations for a productive two years, acknowledgement (by some) that there were significant issues left unresolved, recognition of the challenges to face the

by Sue Cornelius

Greenbelt once again is unique because we have a women's team playing in the Women's Soccer Association, at Columbia. They are sponsored by Greenbelt American Legion and include mostly Greenbelt residents. Even though they are presently 0-2, the games have been close (3-2, 3-1) and a win is predicted for this Sunday. Debbie Reese and Ann Herink have been the scorers for the team thus far, and Julie Jenkins and Jane Cosner took turns playing goalie, where they played very skillfully and courageously. Good luck!

UTOPIA THEATER HOLDS MUSICAL AUDITIONS

Six adults are needed for the Greenbelt Players' production of the musical "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" set for November at the Utopia Theater.

Auditions will be held in the theater on Sunday, September 29, at 3 p.m. and on Tuesday, Oct. 1, at 7:30 p.m. Besides the six players, the director, Ginny Zanner, will need musicians, dancer-choreographers, technicians and other help. Anyone wanting to be a small part of the production is welcome to leave name and phone number at 441-8770. Zanner can be reached at 474-0652 for detailed information about the production.

new council, and thanks to retiring city solicitor Emmett (Zip) Nanna for his years of service. Nanna, sleepy but in good humor at 12:30 a.m. responded, "I move we adjourn."

Late Charges Waived For Some Taxpayers

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said property taxpayers whose funds are frozen in the three savings & loan institutions under conservatorship should not be penalized if they are unable to pay the entire state portion of the property tax bill by October 1. He has notified the finance officials in the counties that it is appropriate for them to waive penalty and interest charges on the state portion of property taxes due if all of the taxpayer's funds are deposited in these institutions.

Goldstein urged taxpayers whose funds are controlled by a conservator in the savings and loan situation to file the tax forms, paying what they can, and submit a letter of explanation along with a copy of their most recent bank statement to verify their account status.

Greenbelt Adult Sports Program (G.A.S.P.)

Are you interested in participating in team sports? Do you want to engage in a non-competitive, "just-for-fun" sports league? Have you tried to join an established team, but been unsuccessful? Would you like to meet new people, get some exercise, or learn to play a new sport? If the answer is yes to any or all of these questions, then the Greenbelt Recreation Department has the right program for you.

The Recreation Department is attempting to establish a new recreational sports program for adults. A yearly membership fee of $20 per person (resident) or $30 (non-resident) will enable you to participate in any number of sports programs. The sports offered are all co-ed and will include volleyball, soccer, softball, and basketball.

For more information, contact Anne Herink, at 474-6878.

- WHO: Anyone 18 years or older, regardless of skill level.
- WHERE: Games will be played on fields and in gymnasiums in Greenbelt.
- WHEN: A year-round sports program will be established. Participate in as many sports programs as you wish. As soon as enough participants have registered, the program will begin.
- TIME: Games will be played during weekday evenings.

JOE ISAACS for City Council

What Greenbelters Are Saying About Joe Isaacs

"Its (the local community's) viability depends not only upon the satisfactory functioning of its economic and administrative muscle, but upon the character of its will and vision, in short, upon its leadership. I believe Joe possesses such will and vision. Joe is a leader."

County Councilman Richard J. Castaldi
March, 1984

"I support Joe Isaacs in his bid for a seat on the City Council because of his dedication to civil involvement, his belief in the importance of local government, his intelligence and experience. Most of all, he is a good neighbor in the fullest sense of what the term implies."

Hugh H. McEvoy
Boxwood Village

"Joe Isaacs puts his effort where his mouth is—he's not just talk, he acts. His work on behalf of crime watch and his leadership in the movement to keep the co-op grocery store and gas station in the community are just a few examples that come to mind. He would be a great asset to the City Council because of his dedication, vigor, common sense and concern for people."

Albert K. Herling
Greenbelt Homes, Inc.

"Joe Isaacs has often demonstrated that he is a strong and judicious advocate for enhancement of the city's parkland and recreation programs for the enjoyment of Greenbelters of all ages. He's got my vote."

Joe Wilkinson
Former Chairman
Park & Recreation Advisory Board

"Joe appreciates the needs of senior citizens. He cares, will listen to their concerns, and will act wisely to address them."

Pearl & Irv Siegel
Gray Panthers

"Joe was most helpful when the Springhill Lake Civic Association was reactivated two years ago. He also led a letter-writing campaign that got the state to act on a dangerous traffic problem at the Edmonston Road entrance to our complex. Joe, a former Springhill Laker, has remained a good friend to our community."

Joan Dunn
Springhill Lake Apts.

"Our mobile crime watch program and Boxwood's got off the ground at about the same time. Joe Isaacs was clearly the motivating force that got the Boxwood program rolling and its residents more active in looking out for one another and assisting police."

Paul Rall
Lakewood

"Joe is a former resident of Springhill Lake, a subdivision separated from the center of the city by a major highway, and is therefore sensitive to the needs of east Greenbelt as well. His input on the planning and zoning recommendations of the city's Advisory Planning Board attests to this. On decisions pertaining to east Greenbelt, he has consistently supported managed growth (so that public facilities like roads and police will not be overloaded), quality commercial and low-density residential development, and protection of the environment."

Bill Ayers
Greenbriar Condominiums

"As a leader of Citizens For the ($6 million) Bond Issue, Joe impressed me by his firm understanding of the financial matters involved and his sharp analytical skills in developing a flyer to clarify the facts and inform the voters. I back his candidacy fully."

GHI Board Drafts, Letter to Governor On Freeze on Community S&L Funds

by Mavis Fletcher

The savings and loan crisis as it impacts Greenbelt Homes, Inc., and its members was discussed in some depth at the September 5 meeting of the GHI board of directors. A draft of a letter to Governor Harry Hughes was presented to the board. The letter outlined the past relationship between Greenbelt citizens and Community (formerly Twin Pines) Savings & Loan and emphasized "the faith which the people of Greenbelt placed in Community" and the plight now of many of those people who have been cut off from their money.

The letter cited as another concern that "... we are unable to determine with any certainty which institution now owns our mortgage loans." The letter strongly urged Hughes to use the state's regulatory powers to help GHI find out who owns the loans and to "... take decisive action to re-establish public confidence."

The letter to Hughes also stated that the Share Loan Service Corporation had offered to buy the estimated $5-7 million worth of Greenbelt mortgages which the institutions have outstanding. The letter continued: "Obviously, our motivation in doing so is to protect our residents. From the perspective of the Maryland Deposit Insurance Fund (MDIF), this offer should be a welcome one. Community or EPIC would be provided with the liquidity which they are reportedly seeking. We have received no response to these offers."

In the discussion of this crisis and its effect on members whose mortgages are held by Community or EPIC, General Manager Ron Colton said that as long as members make their payments, he could not see that members' homes would be in any danger of foreclosure. If the whole EPIC/Community enterprise ended up in bankruptcy court, he said, closing on homes being sold could be slowed.

Financial news of a more cheerful nature was contained in notification from the National Cooperative Bank that the patronage dividend payable to GHI this year will take the form of $285,363 in cash and more than $1 million in bank stock. President Margaret Hogensen warned, however, that this is probably the last of the large dividends. Because the NCB has sold 90% of the GHI mortgage in the secondary market, GHI's patronage will decline.

Bean Scheme

In a long agenda, the board dealt with everything from parks and playgrounds to the "Bean Scheme" at the Labor Day Festival. Proudly displayed in the board room was the first-prize ribbon for the best booth at the festival. The ribbon was surrounded by some of the out-sized bean leaves, caterpillars and lady bugs which had made the booth unique. According to Betty Deitch, Chair of the Member and Community Relations Committee and the head of the Labor Day effort, Linda Buckley of Hanover Parkway won the "Bean Scheme" first prize by guessing the exact number of beans in the jar—8,754.

Parks and Playgrounds

According to Colton, a work session with the city council will take place sometime in October to discuss the relationship which now exists with the city in regard to upkeep and costs of the playgrounds in GHI. A letter from Colton to the city suggested a new division of effort may be needed to allow each party "to do what it does best." Hogensen appointed Directors Debbie Hartwick and Nancy Hutchins and Audit Committee member Beverly Colvin to a committee to work on the redesign and siting of the playgrounds.

50th Anniversary

The board rescinded previous permission to allow the 50th Anniversary Committee to use some unused basement space under apartments on Parkway to store and restore furniture from the 1930's. The hazard to the apartments involved in furniture refinishing would have required the installation of a sprinkling system and fans. Therefore, the board agreed to allow the committee to use the garage portion of the boiler room on Plateau Place for two years. The eventual conversion of the boiler room to living space as authorized by the membership will probably take two years, Colton said. The board also heard some of the plans and some of the obstacles to the Anniversary Committee's plan for the city to buy a GHI home as a Greenbelt museum. Since the bylaws stipulate that GHI homes must be owned by persons or religious organizations and occupied by residents, an opinion by corporation counsel Patrick Clancy held that membership approval would be needed for an exception for ownership by the city.

The board found it more difficult to come to an agreement on support of the committee's Adopt-A-Tree program. After prolonged discussion, the board voted 4-3 to have trees purchased by members under this program planted by the GHI maintenance department. The directors (Janet Cantwell, Debbie Hartwick and Mac Wirick) who opposed the motion said that they thought this might overburden an already busy maintenance staff and set an unfortunate precedent for the future.

Owner Take-Back Policy

The board encountered even more difficulty in trying to agree on a policy about recognizing and servicing future "owner take-back" loans. Colton had proposed that GHI require standard recognition agreements, amortization schedules, promissory notes and security agreements prepared by an attorney for all future take-back loans to insure that GHI will not find itself caught in the middle without proper documents of resales. The issue was tabled to the next meeting on a motion by Director Wayne Williams when it became apparent that the issue was too complicated to deal with in one meeting.

The board received a report from the Audit Committee outlining recommendations for new maintenance policies, including a "maintenance audit" for a unit shortly after a new owner takes possession. Such an audit would give the new member a clear idea of what upkeep will be performed by GHI.

Regarding future events, the board agreed with a management proposal to hold the special membership meeting on October 22, which will deal with bylaws. The board also voted to pay full registration fees for Colton, Hogensen, and Director Ray McCawley at the conference of the National Association of Housing Cooperatives to be held in California in October.

GHI NOTES

The GHI Board of Directors will meet on Thursday, September 19 immediately following a GDC Board meeting which will begin at 8 p.m. Items on the GHI agenda include trash enclosure policy, owner take-back loans, larger townhomes rehab, Saving and Loan crisis, 6 court Hillside engineering study, bathroom exhaust fans and committee restructuring. GHI members are always welcome to attend regular meetings of the Board of Directors. The meeting will be held in the GHI Board Room of the office building on Hamilton Place.
